Violinist Ricci To Appear In 5th Artist Series Feb. 10

Violinist Ruggiero Ricci, returning from an extensive tour in Europe, will perform in the fifth Artist Series Feb. 10 in the Chapel-auditorium.

Once called a child prodigy, Ricci's skill as a concert violinist is unequaled. He made his debut in the music world at the age of 9 at New York's Mecca Temple with the Manhattan Symphony.

Before Ricci was five years old, his father, a trombonist and bandmaster, taught him all that he knew about music and then sent him to Louis Persinger, the famous string pedagogue.

At the age of 22, with an annual income higher than that of the President of the United States, California-born Ricci entered the U.S. Army Air Force for three years.

It was during this time that he developed his artistry as a soloist.

In 1951 he met and married Valma Rodriguez, an Argentine actress. Now in his early forties and the father of five children, he with his family makes his permanent home in Geneva, Switzerland.

The Guarnerius violin which Ricci will play here for the concert dates back to 1734. He purchased the rare instrument in 1956. Another violin virtuoso, the late Bronislaw Huberwon, also once owned this violin.

Dr. Helge Wtrehus

Visiting Scholar, Coach Receive Faculty Posts

A visiting Norwegian professor will be here for the summer session and a football line coach has been hired for this fall, as announced by Dr. John Chellevold, dean of faculty.

Dr. Helge Wtrehus, a visiting Fulbright scholar, will be teaching Philosophy 309s, History of Philosophy and History 411s, Scandinavian Culture during the summer semester.

"We are hoping, in the future, to be able to announce several public lectures to be given by Dr. Wtrehus," said Dr. Chellevold.

Dr. Wtrehus comes from Fridjof Nansen Institute of Humanistic and Social Research in Lillerhammer, Norway.

He received his Ph. D from the University of Oslo in 1945, has taught in secondary schools and was program assistant in Norwegian for the British Broadcasting System in London and later for the Norwegian Broadcasting System in Oslo.

Lee Bondhus, a former Green Bay Packer, will be Wartburg's football line coach this fall. He will be an instructor of physical education and biology and will assist in track.

Bondhus will be teaching biology in place of Henry Milander, who is returning to graduate school. He will replace Dr. Wilmut Fruehling in football. Fruehling will devote full time to teaching psychology.

Bondhus is currently a graduate assistant at South Dakota State, Brookings, working toward an M.S. degree, which he will receive this summer.

He was drafted by the Packers in 1961 and stayed with them most of that year. He was then sent to Grand Rapids, Mich., where he played in the United Professional Football League.

Orchestra Founder To Conduct In 10th Anniversary Performance

Ernest Hagen, formerly of the Wartburg College Music Department, will be guest conductor and Mrs. Judy Bentley, of the present faculty, will be featured soloist at the Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra concert to be held tomorrow evening in the Chapel-auditorium.

This concert marks the 10th anniversary of the founding of the orchestra. Hager, here from 1952-1959, founded the orchestra in 1953. He directed the orchestra and Wartburg band. Presently, Robert Lee is serving as director of these organizations.

In 1959 Hagen accepted the conductorship of the Casper Civic Symphony in Casper, Wyo., as well as a teaching post at Casper College. Hagen has also formed and directed the Caspian Youth Symphony.

Entering the professional field, Hagen became conductor and musical director of the all-professional Festival Symphony Orchestra. This orchestra, composed of members from several American and Canadian symphony orchestras, gives two concerts each week for six weeks during the summer.

Hagen is a graduate of St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., and received his M.A. degree from the State University of Iowa, Iowa City.

Mrs. Bentley, flute soloist, received her training in the Oberlin Observatory, Oberlin, Ohio, and has studied in Europe under the world famous flutist, William Kincaid. She has appeared as soloist with the Philadelphia, Fort Wayne and Nashville symphony orchestras.

Program for Sunday evening is as follows: Hayden's Symphony No. 104, Grieg's Holberg Suite, Vivaldi's Concerto in D Minor for Orchestra and Mozart's Flute Quartette, the latter featuring Mrs. Bentley.

Scholarship Deadline Set For February 14

Applications for all on-campus scholarships must be completed by Feb. 14, according to Mrs. Florence Hertlein, chairman of the Scholarship Committee.

"Approximately $14,800 will be awarded to Wartburg students through fund or special scholarships and class scholarships," said Mrs. Hertlein.

Fund scholarships (high school honor and proficiency) amount to approximately $4,300 of the total and class scholarships fill out the rest with approximately $10,500. Individual scholarships average $100 to $300.

"These scholarships are given only to presently enrolled students because they are awarded on the basis of work already done," said Mrs. Hertlein. "Of course, need plays some part, but grade point is the determining factor since these are scholarships and not loans."

Only one type of application is used. This is to give a student a chance to receive the largest scholarship possible with his grade point and qualifications.

Convo Features Religion Series

Fourth convocation series of this year was opened on Thursday when discussions on "Sources of Religious Authority" were begun by Dr. Robert Jensen of Luther College.

This topic will again be dealt with on Thursday, Feb. 6, by Dr. Alfred von Rohr Sauer of Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., who will speak on "The Role of the Bible in Authority."

The Rev. Xavier Maudlin, OSB, dean of St. Meinrad College in St. Meinrad, Ind., will address convo Feb. 13 on "The Role of Tradition in Authority."

On Feb. 20 Dr. Frank Gardner of the Divinity School of Drake University will speak on "The Philosophical Basis of Process Theology." A member of the Wartburg Religion Department will speak on "Authority in Neo-Reformation Theology," Feb. 25, to bring this series to a conclusion.

Attendance will be voluntary at Tuesday's convocation, but students have been invited to be present for a program given by the Brotherhood Institute. Featured speaker will be Dr. Arendt Halvorson of St. Paul, Minn.

Hulme, Fox Invited As Guests For Spiritual Emphasis Week

Plans are now being formulated for Spiritual Emphasis Week, which is scheduled to begin Tuesday, March 10, according to Chaplain Herman Diers.

This year's Emphasis Week Committee, composed of seniors Duane Kamrath, Orv McElfresh, Kathy Waughop, John Leonard, junior, and John Kurtt of the Athletic Department, have invited Dr. William E. Hulme and Prof. Josef Fox to address the student body during that week.

Dr. Hulme, professor of Pastoral Theology and Pastoral Counseling at Wartburg Seminary, was formerly head of the Department of Religion and Philosophy here at Wartburg. He also served as a Lutheran Tutor at Oxford University in England.

Fox, a member of the Department of English at State College of Iowa, was described by Pastor Diers as "an outspoken and articulate proponent of humanism on the SCI campus."

"A definite theme has not yet been selected," said Pastor Diers. "The general area in which the committee is working is that of man's controlling his own destiny with no need for a God, as opposed to the view that God indeed is important in man's life."

Cafeteria Comm. Formed

Gripers about "Grube's grub" may bring their complaints to the Cafeteria Committee, which was formed last month by Walter Fredrick, business manager.

This committee is composed of Ron Burrichter, student body vice president; Bob Braun, chairman of the Student Welfare Committee; Karen Rehwinkel, sophomore; and Janice Alke, freshman.

They will meet twice a month with Mrs. Loreen Grube, cafeteria manager, to discuss problems of food service and menus.

According to Fredrick, the purpose of the new committee is "to bring about a closer relationship between the students who eat in the cafeteria and the personnel of the college which is responsible for food preparation."

Braun added, "It is hoped that through this committee students will come to a better understanding of the problems involved in feeding 850 people three times a day."

Already the committee has been responsible for such things as the serving of eggs twice a week, candy bars served at supper last week and the cafeteria party held during the week of semester tests.

Any student wishing to register a complaint may contact any committee member and will be invited to attend the meetings, said Braun.

Pres. Becker Returns

Pres. C. H. Becker has returned home following nearly a month of hospitalization after suffering a heart attack Dec. 28. He arrived home from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Waverly, last weekend.

Dr. Becker plans to be able to resume work at his office for an hour or two each day in the near future. Presently, he is allowed to move about his home and is permitted two visitors on business daily.

Play Preparation Approaches Finale

Preparations for the play "Born Yesterday," to be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 6, 7 and 8, in the Chapel-auditorium, are in the final stages.

Starring Judy Holiday and Paul Douglas, the play was a long-run comedy on Broadway. Later, it was also made into a popular motion picture with Judy Holiday receiving an academy award for her performance.

Dee Ann Dreier, senior, is cast as Billie Dawn, the part in which Judy Holiday starred. Al Sandau, also a senior, is playing the part of Harry Brock, originally played by Paul Douglas.

Other cast members are freshman Dave Foege, sophomores Francis Wollenzien, Dave Perkins, Ron Kuehl, Sarah Steidinger and Norma Gray; juniors Doug Langholz, Dan Moeller and Bob Bone; and senior Nancy Keel.

Crews picked for this second major production are assistant director, Carol Arendt, junior; stage managers, Al Sandau and Jerry Franzen, junior; lighting, Dick Rollings, junior; properties, seniors Kathryn Becker and Lana Stavnheim.

Kathryn Becker will also be in charge of sound; costumes and make-up, Nancy Keel, Bob Bone and sophomore Ann Wesender.

Students will be admitted to "Born Yesterday" by presenting their activity tickets.

Wartburg theater performers are already making plans to present a one-act play at State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls and "Are You Are" for Spiritual Emphasis Week.

Battling Balance?

It was almost like football season, but it was slightly reversed. Girls had their arms in slings instead of seeing boys on crutches. There were a few limps, and several legs of girls bore purple spots. This was the scene just before semester break.

What is this sport that is so rough on the Wartburg women? Is the Physical Education Department to blame? Or are Wartburg girls just soft?

Problems have arisen when the girls venture out of dormitories into the treacherous world beyond. Actually, it isn't even the world, even if it holds practice teaching or tests, but the sidewalks on the campus that lead to the world.

Perhaps it isn't only the girls who are plagued by the icy sidewalks, but it seems that they are the ones who lose the battle with balance.

I don't profess to be an economist, but it does seem as though false economy is occurring on the Wartburg campus. Is it cheaper to buy several bags of salt or to pay many doctor bills for sprains and bruises? Maybe we have to wait until someone has his head gashed open before measures are taken to prevent slippery sidewalks.

We could start a school-wide campaign with everybody wearing a sling, and maybe somebody would take notice that action is needed.

Who is to blame? Perhaps the custodians are not aware that such problems exist. Or maybe they think slippery sliding on the way to classes is what the dull college student needs.

Our professors are also walking the same paths, and they might feel the fall a little harder than we do.

Isn't it silly that space has to be wasted in a college newspaper just to get some salt put on sidewalks or the ice cleaned off when such problems occur? One would think a college community would be wise enough to think of small safety factors.

There are probably going to be snowy and icy sidewalks again before April comes. Will something be done?

Spirit Needs Manners

School spirit has really been running high this year. That's great, isn't it? Members of the student body have never cheered so loudly at games as this year. That's also great, isn't it?

Members of houses and the different dormitory floors have never cheered together as a unit as much. That too is great, isn't it?

Meanwhile, sportsmanship is getting poorer and poorer. There's nothing wonderful about that, is there?

It is now a common thing to boo or to make a comment at a call or foul, whether the call was correct or not. Even if we feel the call was incorrect, we do not see plays from the same angle as the referee.

If you could have a mirror image of yourself as you yell out insults from a mouth as big as a globe, you would realize how unbecoming this is.

It is almost getting to the point where we are cheering their players more than our own team. We applaud every foul they have, we scream for every one of their free throws and we even use the silent applause of putting thumbs up to the audience of the opposite team.

Remember that points for some of the traveling trophies like the bell and the axe are obtained through sportsmanship in addition to winning teams.

Good sportsmanship takes the combined effort of all of us.

It takes knowledge of Wartburg spirit and traditions, a reminder from the cheerleaders once in a while if we get carried away and an example of sportsmanship set by the coaches.

Let's add better sportsmanship to the newly found school spirit.

One student to the other when leaving the cafeteria, "Well, shall we go up to the Den and get something to eat?"

Student teachers are done (for, in, with?)

Russia's 'A Summer To Remember' Excellent Through Filming Of Emotion

By Evan Bartelt

"A Summer to Remember," the Russian-produced film seen at the Wartburg Film Series last Wednesday evening, was indeed a work of excellence and originality.

Although the movie was given with Russian dialogue and English subtitles, it offered a truly emotional and engrossing evening. Certainly if it had been changed, it would have lost much of its Russian flavor.

Seryozha, the young child, proved, by portraying all of his roles in a most convincing manner, to be an excellent actor. One could not only see the way he felt, but could also feel his reactions to the different situations.

The most outstanding quality of the film is the way it portrays situations as a child would see and feel them. This was quite evident in a number of places.

Most striking of these is the way the film is put together in snatches, just the way a child's mind jumps around.

The child would be riding his new bike with the other children, and then suddenly he would find himself losing interest in this and would be helping a friend build a new glider.

Other examples of the child's view taken in filming the story could be seen in coming up from below to view the new child in his mother's arms and looking up to see the tattoos on the sea captain.

Another example was shown when the old lady had come down the ladder from the hayloft and was seen berating her nephew. The camera looked out from around the barrel and emphasized her bulk and waving arm, things which would particularly impress a young child.

There was also a good deal of Russian influence evident in the movie. Such things as communal living and a feeling of "must" was shown by the father in his vocation as farm manager.

Also evident was a bit of Russian superstition and folklore. The family's sitting down for a few minutes for good luck before leaving the home was certainly a new concept for the American audience.

Final scene of the movie climaxed the emotionalism of this excellent production when the father could not leave behind, for a few weeks, his stepson, but returned to take him with the family on their journey to a new home.

BECKER'S BANTER

Wartburg's A Stage For Rising Players

By Kathryn Becker

Shakespeare once said, maybe not long ago, that "all the world's a stage." He was probably unaware of the profound depth of his statement.

Becker

At any rate, he must have been speaking of colleges and college students. Many collegians who would scoff at appearing in a theatrical production insist on putting on an act daily. The Comedies and Tragedies that take place on campus could provide material for Arthur Miller, or his successors.

It may seem that an individual can turn out a complete performance without a single rehearsal — a real Academy Award winner. But take it from me, a whole lifetime was spent preparing for the role.

"Carol, I just can't stand that man. He doesn't even know what he's talking about. Such lack of organization. I wouldn't mind if he talked overtime once in a while, but every class period! And he never says a thing."

As said to the professor:

"Excuse me, sir. I can't quite seem to comprehend what the book says. You explain it so much more clearly. Could you possibly clear up this little bit of confusion for me? I have all the time in the world."

As said to her friend:

"Now, look, if he asks you what I'm doing tomorrow night, tell him a bunch of us girls are going to the movie. I think I agreed to go with him two weeks ago, but I'm going to get out of it. I don't even like the way the boy breathes."

As said to the boy:

"What a surprise! You're an absolute dear, but I've already made plans. And we would have had such fun. I feel wretched about the whole thing. Do call again; we'll work something out yet. Promise."

Professor speaks to his wife:

"I sit in my office for hours and not a soul comes near me. The times are posted for all to see, but no one looks. But the minute I start to look up, I'm surrounded by students in dire need who must be helped immediately. You'd think the faculty was here for their convenience."

Professor speaks to a student:

"I realize that our schedules just don't mesh. I have six classes on Wednesday, but if I get the kids from school an hour late and take my wife shopping during lunch, I can see you for an hour. Or as long as you need. The faculty is here to help in any way possible."

As said to a friend before the test:

"I'm absolutely petrified. I haven't even opened the book. I've been so busy, I haven't had time to fit studying into my schedule. The course is a complete waste of time, anyway."

As said to the professor after the test:

"I can't understand how I did so poorly. I went over everything you emphasized and really knew the stuff backwards. It was all so fascinating I couldn't put the book down. I just don't see how I could have goofed the test."

Snow Weekend Theme Chosen; Carol Wessels Wins Tickets

By Karyl Ehlers

Magic better than Aladdin's is sure to transform the Wartburg campus into a snow wonderland as "Winter Magic," this year's snow holiday, gets under way Feb. 14.

The theme, "Winter Magic," was submitted by sophomore Carol Wessels. She will receive free weekend tickets for two as a reward.

Thursday night's pep rally will give a preliminary kick-off to activities. The festivities will officially begin Friday evening when the king and queen will be crowned on the Luther Mall.

All nominations must be submitted by Friday. Each organization and all housing units are to nominate one candidate for queen and one for king. A vote will be taken in convocation during the week of Feb. 9.

"Snowflake Variety" will follow the coronation ceremonies at 7:30 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium. Tickets for the performance are 85 cents per couple and 65 cents per single admission. Anyone interested in entering the show may still contact freshmen Kathlene or Kathrine Kriesel.

A major change in the year's activities is the addition of a movie, "The Great Impostor," starring Tony Curtis. This film will be shown in the Chapel-auditorium at 10:30 p.m. Friday. Cost will be small.

Since there will be no official extension of hours throughout the weekend, a Penny Night is tentatively planned for Friday night.

Snow sculptures will be judged Saturday, Feb. 15, at 12 noon. Three trophies will be awarded to the winners in the following categories: clearest motif for the sculpture and idea, the most original sculpture and the sculpture showing the best technique.

Saturday afternoon and evening will put the spotlight on athletic events. A wrestling meet against Luther College will be held at 2 p.m. in Knights Gym. Saturday night will find the Knights challenging the Peacocks of Upper Iowa in basketball competition.

One half-hour after the game, "Winter Magic" will reach its height and its end with "Northern Lights," a dance to be held in Knights Gym until 11:45 p.m., with music by Ravon's of Mason City.

Ravon's has a reputation for providing good music, so all are invited to lend their ears, stag or drag. Cost will be $1 per couple and 65 cents for singles.

"The whole weekend is planned to provide an informal, inexpensive good time for everyone," commented sophomore Bill Hamm, general chairman.

Students are encouraged to join in every aspect of fun, and guests are welcome.

Hamm also expressed appreciation to others working with him. Heading the coronation activity is sophomore Carol Wessels. "Snowflake Variety" is under the co-direction of Kathrine and Kathlene Kriesel.

Junior Randy Marsh is in charge of snow sculpture activity, and the dance is being organized by junior Rog Sherman and sophomore Carol Lee. Publicity chairman is Diane Western, freshman, and junior Dan Moeller is finance chairman.

MEMBERS OF THE Snow Weekend Committee meet to polish off plans for the coming holidays. Committee members are Kathrine and Kathlene Kriesel, Carol Wessels, Bill Hamm and Dianne Western. Second row is Rog Sherman, Carol Lee and Dan Moeller.

Film To Be Shown In Special Chapel

A film, "The Square," will be shown in a special chapel to be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Chapel-auditorium.

"The Square" is an examination of the values of middle-class American youth torn between the desire for security and the drive for creative self-expression.

A young man about to graduate from college and his fiancee face the question of which job offer they will accept. In making this decision, they face the question "How large a world can I handle?"

Discussion will follow the film.

Vote Scheduled For Convo Contains Groups And Prices For Pops Concert Selection

Juniors Arlyn Ristau and Rog Sherman have been named chairmen for the Spring Pops Concert, announced Student Body President Nels Meyer recently. Sherman and Ristau also served as Fall Pops Concert chairmen.

Ballots for the concert will be presented to the students in convocation Thursday. There will be eight choices on the ballot, and voting will be done preferentially.

The following groups will be on the ballot: The Ahmad Jamal Trio ($2,000), the Al Hirt Sextet ($2,500), the Dukes of Dixieland ($1,500), the Herbie Mann Jazz Sextet ($1,500) and The Julian Cannonball Adderley Sextet ($2,000).

Also on the ballot are Peter Nero ($1,850), the Ramsey Lewis Trio ($1,500) and the Village Stompers ($1,500).

Prices are given to show students how much each group actually gets for a performance, said Ristau. There is now $1,700 in the Pops Concert Fund. The Smothers Brothers cost about twenty-eight hundred dollars, but a profit was still made because of a sellout crowd.

No groups that are available will be too expensive for the budget, according to Sherman.

Sherman asks that students become acquainted with the albums of some of these musicians so that they will not be disappointed with the outcome of the vote.

These choices were selected because the chairmen felt that an instrumental group would add variety to concerts that have featured vocalists the past concerts.

Trumpet Blasts News To Students

By Norma Gray

Sunday afternoon. Ideas must be gotten. Think now what's new on campus? What's old that's still of interest? What's the average student interested in? What's the student who isn't so average interested in? All these difficulties confront the editorial board of the Trumpet staff on Sunday afternoons.

A Monday morning agenda of a Trumpet reporter may include: breakfast, class, visit Publications House, check assignment, class, lunch. By now the student has a good idea of the story he must write and the proper person to visit to obtain the information.

Oftentimes reporters are sent on a merry chase and a mad scramble interviewing different people on campus. Occasionally the reporter is reminded of the cross-reference section of the library.

When Mr. Reporter finally collects the information, he writes his story in correct journalistic style, according to the Associated Press Style Book. He must turn the story into the Publications House by 3 p.m. on Wednesday.

Again the editorial board comes into focus. Each member begins making corrections overlooked by the reporter, wondering where the rest of the stories are, worrying about deadlines, but most of all, making corrections.

Senior assistant, Evan Bartelt also lends aid as consultant and copy reader.

Freshmen Deanna Fulwider and Sheryl Hayes take over from here. For each story a headline must be written. It's difficult to make a certain thought fit into the space that is allotted for the head.

While this is going on, the business side of the Trumpet must also be carried out. Senior Gary Fisher, business manager, is busy sending out bills and requisitions.

The Trumpet needs money to stay in operation. Karen Lilly and Deanna Fulwider, freshmen, spend a good deal of their time soliciting advertisements from Waverly and the surrounding area.

Every page of a newspaper needs pictures, and the Trumpet is equipped with a photographer to do the job. Mike Zolnosky, sophomore, may be seen carrying his camera around campus hunting for unusual shots.

IT'S OFTEN a lot of fun to put out a Trumpet, agree staff members Evan Bartelt, Gary Olson and Norma Gray. They are preparing Trumpet copy which must be ready for the printer Thursday night.

Copy must be down to the printer at the Waverly Independent-Democrat by both early Thursday and early Friday mornings.

On Friday night proof from the type is checked for errors by proof editor Nancy Keel, senior, assisted by Sue Kell, sophomore. Also on Friday evening, Helene Kurtz and Gary Olson make up the lay-out. This involves finding a place to put each story, in addition to fitting in the ads.

Several Trumpet staff members devote their Saturday mornings to working in the Waverly Independent-Democrat back shop setting up the paper in the final form. Usually by noon the Trumpet is on the press.

By now, one would think that the work would be finished; but it has only begun for sophomore circulation manager, David Wegenast and assistants Ron Nelson, sophomore and Jim Folkerts, junior. Each Trumpet must be folded and stuffed into student and faculty mailboxes. Wegenast mails out several hundred copies Monday morning to Trumpet subscribers not on campus.

Throughout the week, Mrs. Margaret Garland, Trumpet adviser, is on hand to lend assistance and give advice. She checks the Trumpet through completely and meets with the executive board — editor, managing editor and business manager — each Monday.

Erie Islanders To Sing Here

The Erie Islanders, a fast-rising folk-singing group from Fremont, Ohio, will appear at Wartburg College Feb. 22.

Included in the quartet, featured on Courier Records, is junior Dave Zimmerman. A performance by the singers at Waldorf College, Forest City, last year was considered a huge success by students there.

Appearance of the group is sponsored by the Social Activities Committee. Tickets will be available soon, according to junior Bob Bone, concert chairman.

H. S. Choral Clinic Will Be Saturday

Ten Iowa high school choirs will attend Wartburg's annual Mid-winter Choral Clinic to be held here Saturday.

Each of these schools has also been invited to bring six soloists or ensembles, according to Dr. Maynard Anderson and Dr. James Fritschel, both of the Wartburg Music Department, and co-chairmen of the clinic planning committee.

Both the groups and individuals will have a chance to perform for an hour before members of the Wartburg music faculty, who will serve as clinicians. During each workshop, criticism and suggestions for improvement will be made.

In the afternoon each of the high school groups, the Wartburg choir, band and Castle Singers will perform. Some numbers will also be sung by a massed choir.

Prof. Harry Carter of the University of Illinois, Champaign, will direct the massed choir involving some 650 voices. The concert will be held at 4 p.m. in Knights Gymnasium and is open to the public free of charge.

HOME RECORD BLEMISHED

Dutchmen Halt Home Victory String

By Chuck Ditto

Wartburg's unblemished home court victory string came to an abrupt halt last night. Central College's Flying Dutchmen handed the Knights their first defeat in six games on the Wartburg court by the score of 77-72.

Both teams were without the services of their individual specialist. Wartburg's defensive ace, Harold Shudlick, was forced to the sidelines with a knee injury, while Central had to take the floor without Harold DeBie, the conference scoring leader.

Central jumped off to an early first half lead when Phil Van Den Berg pumped in seven straight points on three buckets and a free throw, while Wartburg was limited to a pair of free throws by Lowell Syverson.

Most of the first half action took place at the charity line as the officials kept their whistles hot by calling 31 fouls. The Knights fell victim to the call 16 of the 31 times.

Al Buenning brought the Knights within one point when he dropped in four straight free throws. Gene Loomans added a free throw to Central's cause.

Syverson then knotted the score at 28 apiece on a long jump shot and Dick Ridout popped in a short jumper to give Wartburg a 30-28 lead.

The lead changed hands twice more before the Knights could hold onto a 40-36 score at intermission.

Jaspers quintet managed to hold onto their slim lead only during the opening minutes of the second half. Consecutive baskets by Schultz, Loomans and Olm gave Central the boost they needed, as they never relenquished the lead in the remaining time.

Central shot an amazing 73.7 percent during second half play. This gave them a percentage of 58.5 for the game.

Dave Lange, who just became eligible, did manage to tie the score at 65-65, but four free throws, a technical foul, and a basket by Kent Sneller put the Dutchmen out of reach.

Central now stands 7-2 in conference play with 13-2 overall. Wartburg is 5-4 in the conference and 6-8 for the season.

Leading scorers for Central were Gene Loomans with 23 and Van Den Berg with 19. Loomans also grabbed off 16 rebounds.

Wartburg scoring went this way:

Name	FG	FTA	FT	F
Syverson	3	5	5	5
Cameron	1	2	2	4
Buenning	6	10	7	3
Ridout	5	2	2	2
Medlang	4	2	2	4

Al Breaks Record

AL BUENNING, center and starter for the Knight cagers, grabbed 34 rebounds against Luther, setting a new record and breaking his old one of 26. Buenning, a senior from Parkston, S.D., is in his last season for the Knights.

Wartburg Knights Win 2, Defeating Luther, Simpson

By Gary Olson

Wartburg cagers boosted their over-all season record to 6-7 and their conference record to 5-3 as they won two out of three games in loop action against Luther, Upper Iowa and Simpson recently.

Al Buenning connected for 35 points and grabbed 34 rebounds, a new school record, as he led the Knights to an 85-81 win over Luther here on Jan. 18.

Next high scorer for Wartburg in this nip-and-tuck battle was Cliff Cameron with 12 points. Following Cameron was Shudlick with 9, Syverson with 8 and Ridout with 7. Medlang and Zehr hit for 6 apiece.

Top scorer for Luther was Anderson with 21. Baum and Prestergaard scored 18 and 15, respectively.

Wartburg's loss in the three-game series came as the result of a powerful beating at the hands of the Peacocks of Upper Iowa University. The birds grabbed an easy 102-74 win as they hosted the Knights at Fayette on Jan. 14.

Scoring honors for the game went to Dutton, Upper Iowa, with 28 counters. Larry Albers was next with 18, followed by Williams with 16 and King with 14.

Dick Ridout finished with 22 points for the Knights whereas Gary Medlang hit 17.

A balanced attack is an ideal offense in basketball, but it was of no use to the Simpson Redmen, as the hosting Knights pushed past the visitors 71-66.

This Jan. 11 game saw Al Buenning capture scoring honors with 24 points, followed by Dick Ridout with 14.

For Simpson it was Lansing with 17; Black, Underwood and Hensley each with 12; and Miller with 10.

I. M. Basketball Begins; Features Two Leagues

By Dan Knobloch

Intramural basketball season began this week with eight games played. Nineteen teams are participating this year. They are divided into two leagues, the "Big 10" and the "Mighty Nine."

Action began in the Big 10 last Tuesday night with Clinton III vs. Vollmer and Dave Fredrick's Off-campus team vs. Clinton Basement.

Both of these opening games were close. Vollmer trailed Clinton III by never more than five points during the first three quarters. In the fourth period Clinton III moved ahead by as many as 10 points at one time, finally winning 52-44.

Tom Wilson and Gerald Meister were the high scorers for Clinton III with 10 each, and Gerald Baldner sank 10 points for Vollmer.

Off-campus led by eight points most of the way, but shortly after the second half, Clinton Basement put on a brief splurge of scoring.

Pivot work of Dave Fredrick and rebounding of Jerry Franzen were too much for the Basementeers, however, as they fell by a 46-38 margin. Jerry Shinkay was high with 13 points for Basement, and Dave Fredrick had 10 for Off-campus.

Cotta House won over North Hall I in a rough-and-tumble game, 39-31. Jim Fliehler made 24 points for Cotta, 14 of them coming on free-throws. Larry Croghan scored 13 for North Hall I.

In the last game on Tuesday night's list, the Ketha machine proved itself well-oiled and in good repair as the Lamplighters rolled over Gamma House, 85-31.

Leon Carley, rugged Ketha center, took scoring honors with 28, followed by Mick Will with 24. Walt Buenning, brother of Wartburg's star center, also made a good show. Bill Westphal turned in a good performance for Gamma House with 16 points.

The Mighty Nine played on Thursday night. Grossmann II beat North Hall II, 52-22. Tom Stewart had 19, and Doug Johnson 12 for Grossmann, while John Thalacker turned in North Hall II's best score with 8.

Grossmann III upset a powerful Married Men's Team, 53-42. Terry Fairchild scored 13 for the losers, and Hilmer and Holtz had 16 and 14, respectively, for Grossmann III.

Eldon Ott's Off-campus team beat Grossmann Basement, 62-51. Ott's team showed well-balanced scoring and good rebounding ability. Bob Matthias was high with 16, followed by Brian Kruger with 13 and Dave Shalkhauser with 10. Fick had 17 for Grossmann.

In the most thrilling game of the week, Clinton II beat Meyer House, 53-50. Meyer House led by a few points most of the game, but Clinton II managed to get ahead in the fourth quarter. Rich Medlar was high for Clinton II with 15, and Larry Van Der Werff had 15 for Meyer House.

Knights Aim For Top; Need Crowd's Backing

By Mike Becker

Wartburg basketball hopes are rising. The Knights, holders of a 6-7 over-all record and a 5-3 conference record, seem to be playing as though they're after the top prize. The Knights are the surest at home, where they have the student body and the bell backing them up. There is nothing like a winning team to bring out the fire in an otherwise dull home crowd.

Becker

As much as one hates to single out individuals contributing to this revival of basketball at Wartburg, there are quite a few that have helped, not singly but together.

GARY MEDLANG has done a tremendous job as team leader, hustler par excellence and the man to count on when the fat is in the fire.

AL BUENNING is living up to pre-season ravings as one of the top rebounders in the conference. He has proven that he is a deadly efficient shot down under the boards where he belongs.

HAROLD SHUDLICK has shown the quickest pair of hands and best defensive play of the century. Harry has put the clamps on many a highly touted scoring ace entering the hallowed sanctums of Wartburgia.

JERRY ZEHR has proved to be the man that seems to be able to come in and get a couple of quick field goals while nobody knows what's happening.

With the beginning of this semester Coach Jaspers should be greatly pleased to see the return of the "Minnesota Muscle Man," Dave Lange. Dave has played either guard or forward and if given a chance could really help the Knights in the point and rebound columns.

The win over Luther gave us 50 more points in the battle to return the axe. The score now stands Luther—100, Wartburg—100.

The fighters also seem to be developing rapidly. With hard work they should develop into a pretty fair team and should be able to give a good account of themselves at the conference meet.

Several of the frosh have been developing rapidly. Among the frosh Bob Bye and Ed Stoakes seem to possess the greatest potential of developing into top-notch wrestlers. Mike Tower and Bernie Masker possess the best match records so far this year and seem to be our top candidates for conference champions this year.

Looking ahead to track, we could come out all right on the cinder paths this year. If several of our top tracksters manage to stay eligible, we could pull several surprises. The only place we will be weaker is in the high jump, where we lost two of our big-three leapers. We can only go up in the sprints, not having a real sprinter since the days of Eddie Skay.

With a couple more good weight men, a few sprinters and middle-distance men tossed in, we could have a really fine track team. One big plus on our side is the fine coaching of Dave Olson. Much of the improvement of Wartburg's track fortunes can be directly traced to his efforts.

Knights Tie Two As Matmen Meet

Wartburg Knights are coming closer to the win column in wrestling, as they came through with two ties in as many encounters.

Spartans of Dubuque could manage no more than a 13-13 tie from the matmen from Wartburg last Saturday. Larry Snitker, freshman, won his first varsity match for Wartburg at 177 lbs. with a 6-1 decision over Jim Breed.

DuHawks of Loras College, Dubuque, were host to Wartburg on Jan. 11. The Knights jumped off to a 9-0 lead on consecutive decisions by Rog Damrow, senior, Bob Bye, freshman; and Dave Hutson, junior. However, the Jomen had to settle for a 14-14 tie as the DuHawks came on strong in the heavier weights. The Knights only other score came on a fall by Cal Brown, sophomore, at 167 lbs.

Brotherhood Institute To Convene This Week

Approximately five hundred members of the Brotherhood of the Iowa District of the American Lutheran Church are expected on campus Tuesday.

Theme of the 17th annual Institute is "The Kingdom, The Power and The Glory."

Featured speakers in addition to Dr. Arndt Halvorson, professor of Homiletics at Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul, Minn., will be Dr. J. O. Chellevold, dean of faculty; the Rev. Merritt Bomhoff, assistant to the president; and G. R. Bjorgan of the History Department.

Officials of the Iowa District Brotherhood will also speak.

Former Student Preaches Sermon For Gov't Heads

A former Wartburg student preached to the President of the United States and his guest, the Chancellor of Germany, Dec. 29.

Rev. Henry F. Treptow, pastor of Bethany Church (ALC) Fredericksburg, Texas, preached to President Lyndon Johnson and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard at a church service near the completion of their two-day talks at Johnson's ranch.

Treptow was a student at Wartburg in 1947 and 1948.

Army Info. Team Will Visit Campus

An officer selection and information team will make its annual visit to Wartburg Tuesday and Wednesday between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. The team, representing the United States Army, will be located in the Union.

Team members will discuss the new two-year Officer Candidate School and Direct Commissions with interested male students.

Interested female students may find out about the Direct Commission Program for Women and the Women's Army Corps College Junior Program.

Information concerning all army programs, such as flight training, special forces, airborne and the Army Security Agency, will be available.

Poetry Deadline Is February 15

Feb. 15 is the closing date for the 1964 contests of the Iowa Poetry Association. Divisions of the contests include an adult division, college contest and school area.

Any Wartburg student is eligible for the college contest. Students may submit from one to five poems, 20 lines or less (preferably).

Name and address should be included on each sheet in addition to the name of the teacher, school and class.

Any reasonable number of light verses, from 4-6 lines long, up to 28 spaces per line may be included in any of the divisions. One poem should be typed to a page. The light verses may be in addition to the five poems allowed in the major part of the contest.

There is no specified subject or form. Poems must be original, unpublished and submitted by the author except that teachers may submit the work of their students.

A stamped self-addressed envelope for return of unused poems and notification of contest results sometime in April, should be included.

Cash prizes are offered in all divisions for first, second and third places in the adult and college contests.

Adult entries should be sent to Ruth DeLong Peterson, New London. College entries are submitted to Mildred Bensmiller, Iowa Wesleyan College, Mt. Pleasant.

Frosh Will Vote For Leaders Friday

Elections for freshman class president and senators will be held Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the lounge of the Union.

Nominations for these officers are open until 4 p.m. Monday. All nominees must fill out a nomination form, available in the Student Senate Office, temporarily located in Fuchs Lounge.

They may sign the form themselves, or it may be signed by a friend.

Campaigning will formally begin after nominations close. Posters may be a maximum of 24" by 36."

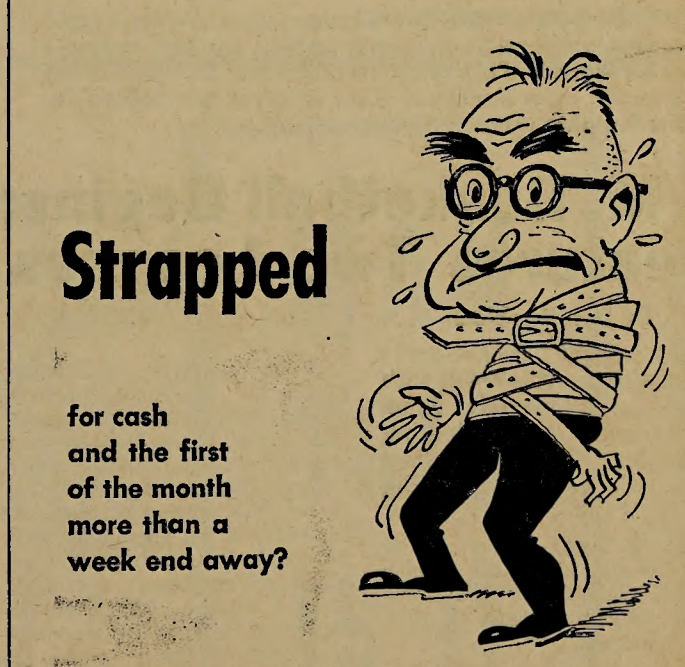
Candidates running for president are allowed two posters in the Union, two in the cafeteria, two in Luther Hall and one in each dormitory.

Senatorial candidates are allowed three posters to be placed anywhere. All other campaigning, according to junior Rog Sherman, chairman of the Elections Committee, is limited to word of mouth.

Students must vote for at least one boy and one girl for senator. Other class officers will be elected at a class meeting following the election of a president and senators.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"SEEMS I ALWAYS MANAGE TO GET A 'CLOWN' IN ONE OF MY CLASSES."



Women Participate

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION participated in a sports day at State College of Iowa in Cedar Falls recently. Although the women did not bring home any victories, a number of participants were semifinalists.
